Chairman Of House Committee Criticises Publishers For Failure To Testify.

BACK GOES "IN GOD WE TRUST"

Senate Passes The House Bill With This Requirement In It For All Future Coins Of The United States.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., May 12.—In connection with the wood pulp tariff investigation, Chairman Mann of the house committee having the matter in charge, today made a sharp complaint of the failure of the newspaper publishers to come forward and supply the committee with facts bearing upon their charges.
He declared it to be the desire of the committee to report during this session, but intimated the course of the publishers might prevent its doing so.
The senate committee on finance voted unanimously to report the bill already passed by the house providing for a permanent restoration of the words, "In God We Trust," to the coin of the United States.
Following the conference today of the managers of the house with Speaker Cannon, it was announced the emergency bill agreed upon last night by the republican caucus, will be taken up for consideration on Thursday.

IS NOT WORRIED BY THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF BECKER

Governor Davidson Does Not Think He Will Have A Hard Time If He IS His Only Opponent.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 12.—The announcement of the candidacy of Sherman M. Becker of Milwaukee for the republican nomination for governor of Wisconsin is not taken seriously at the state capital. This is not because of any belief that the aspirant will withdraw from the race before the primary election is held next September, but because it is believed he will not give Governor Davidson serious competition. Mr. Becker is disliked equally by the two factions of the republican party in his home city as the result of his weak, vacillating conduct in the two years that he was mayor of Milwaukee. He tried to cater to both factions and also to the democrats, but failed to please none of the men of political influence, so that it was impossible for him to gain even the courtesy of a renomination for a second term. This, after he had accomplished the feat of defeating Mayor

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oaklough, Wis., May 12.—A feature of Monday's wind and rain storm in Oaklough was a phenomenal water spout which appeared on the Fox river between the W. Alcona and Wisconsin avenue bridges about 3:15. A column of water twenty feet high and about five feet in diameter arose in a solid column when the water broke. There was a gale of wind in the nature of a small tornado and several persons were carried some distance in the air. Just previous to the appearance of the water spout the barometer took a drop of a quarter of an inch, indicating tornado conditions.

The structure will stand on the site of the old assay office near the corner of Nassau and Wall streets, in the heart of the financial district. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete, and will cost about half a million dollars.
The most striking feature of the structure will be its chimney, which is to go up by many feet, any building yet completed in New York, except the Singer building. From the sidewalk the stack will tower over 400 feet, this height being considered necessary to carry the poisonous fumes of the furnaces above any of the buildings in the neighborhood.

SWANHILDA IS AN HEIR

Daughter of Woman's Second Husband Will Be One of the Contestants of Her Will.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Laport, Ind., May 12.—A gold crowned tooth was found today in the debris of the Guinness home. It is believed to be from the head of Mrs. Bella Guinness. In his report, made public today, Dr. Gray, who performed the autopsy on the body which the authorities have steadfastly claimed is that of Mrs. Bella Guinness, tells of finding three rings upon the corpse and also reveals the fact that the right hand of the deceased was still in existence. The rings, which might be expected to reveal the identity of the wearer, only add to the mystery of the case.
If the above dispatch is correct, then the legal fight which will doubtless follow, in behalf of little Swanhilda Guinness, the child of Peter Guinness, who was killed by Mrs. Guinness, will be one of the most sensational in the history of the state.

MIDWAY ISLAND

Eighteen hundred miles northwest of Honolulu, in mid-ocean, is located a little island rising out of the sea some 40 feet and covering an area of less than 500 acres.
It is a barren tract of land, surrounded by reefs and sandbars, and extremely dangerous to navigation. Will J. Cooper, special correspondent for the Hawaii Promotion committee, has this to say about the island, and the people who inhabit this desolate waste.
"Honolulu, T. H., April 15.—In order that a few flowers and a small patch of green grass may grow and so relieve the terrible monotony of dazzling white sand, the Pacific Commercial Cable company's auxiliary schooner 'Maureno' Ward sailed from this port yesterday with fifty tons of good soil as a part of her cargo for that barren rock in the Pacific known as Midway Island.
"This is not the first shipment of soil which has been sent to Midway and as a result the little handful of employees of the cable company find some relief in cultivating in most painstaking and careful manner strongly suggestive of the play of children, but it serves to occupy the mind as well as the hands of men whose enforced isolation might otherwise become unendurable.
"About a month ago the U. S. naval authorities withdrew the fifteen or twenty marines which had been stationed there for a year past, and now only the cable company's operators and three or four laborers make up the isolated little colony. Theirs is a life which for monotony is probably not exceeded by human beings anywhere on earth. For six months or longer at a stretch they see no other human beings, for vessels usually give the isolated rock a wide berth especially since the big Pacific Mail liner 'Mongolia' went ashore there a year and a half ago and was nearly lost.
"The island is so barren that nothing will grow in the sand except a coarse variety of grass, unless it is mixed with soil imported, and only the unpretentious buildings of the cable company serve to break the monotony of sea and sky and glaring white of the sand.
"About twice a year the 'Maureno' makes the trip from Honolulu carrying food and supplies to the little colony. This round trip usually requires forty days.
"Midway is about 1800 miles northwest from Honolulu and geographically is classed as the northernmost island of the Hawaiian group. Besides the main island which is only a little over a mile long and rises at the highest point scarcely forty feet above the ocean, there are several smaller bits of sand which go under the general name of Midway from their position between Honolulu and Asia. The larger of the islands is sometimes called Sand Island.
"Midway has a somewhat gruesome history, a number of wrecks having occurred there, and in 1887 the crew of a vessel cast ashore lived there for fourteen months before rescued. They suffered great hardship and lost several of their number by scurvy. Capt. J. A. Walker, who commanded the vessel, had with him at the time his wife and a number of children. The family has since lived in Honolulu."

THE RULING CLASS

"The workers need more class-consciousness so that all of them may join the socialist party, the only party which stands squarely for the working class and frankly vows its mission to abolish wage slavery and make the working class the ruling class of the nation."—"The Appeal to Reason."

This is the kind of imported doctrine that is being pumped into the American mind today by a lot of inquisitorial speakers and writers who have assumed a contract to revolutionize American institutions.

Who are the workers in this land of equal privilege and opportunity? They certainly include more than the comparative handful of unionized laborers, for they represent less than five per cent of American toilers.

The population of the United States is said to be 80,000,000. Of this number, 20 million are children, a fraction belong to the criminal and defective classes. A few are enrolled as tramps, and a few more as the "idle sons of the newly rich," but the great rank and file of the 60 million adult population, are working people, who are in control of the government today, always have been, and always will be.

These people, as a rule, are satisfied. They are not clamoring for the equal distribution of property, because a large majority of them are taxpayers, and prefer accumulation to confiscation. An exchange has this to say of the situation:

"If by 'the working class' it is meant all who are engaged in any way in the production of wealth in the largest sense of the word, then 'the working class' should be the ruling class of the nation, for included in 'the working class' would be everybody in the country with the exception of criminals and drones. In this sense 'the working class' is now the ruling class of the nation.

"If, however, by 'the working class' is meant only those who work for wages in manual pursuits, then the socialist party aims at the supremacy in the country of only one part of its wealth-creating population.

"If working for wages is slavery, so would government by wage earners be a substitution of class rule for a republican system. The principle may be stated in this way:
"We want in this country neither government by the Standard Oil company, nor government by the American Federation of Labor, but government which affords equal opportunity under the law for each individual to make the most of himself and which gives protection to both capital and labor."

HAPPY DAY FOR THE TARS.

Officers and Enlisted Men Well Entertained at Frisco.

San Francisco, May 12.—The officers and men of the Atlantic fleet devoted Monday chiefly to sightseeing in and about the cities bordering the bay. More than 1,000 of the enlisted men were shown the city and its environs from observation cars in which they were carried from the ferry landing over the extensive system of the United railroads.

About 300 officers, headed by Rear Admiral Swinburne, occupied a long line of automobiles which paraded through Chinatown and then on to other places of interest. Rear Admiral Thomas, who was suffering from the effects of a cold, went on board the flagship Connecticut early in the morning. A trip over the picturesque route by boat and rail to the summit of Mount Tamalpais was provided for 100 of the warrant officers.

Many members of the army and navy assembled at the Presidio baseball grounds in the afternoon to participate and witness the first of the games that are to be played during the week. In the afternoon numbers went to the Auditorium to witness a series of boxing bouts by Pacific coast amateurs. The social event of the day was the second reception and ball given at the Fairmount hotel in honor of the secretary of the navy, Mr. McCall, and the commanding officers of the fleet.

TRIES TO KILL HIS WIFE.

Falling in This, Omaha Architect Committed Suicide.

Nebraska, Neb., May 12.—Charles M. Krogh, an Omaha architect, Monday attempted to kill his wife as he knelt by her side in prayer in their room at a local hotel. She escaped, and, after a desperate struggle with the hotel landlady, Krogh stabbed himself through the heart. Krogh had been drawing plans for the Nebraska school board. He was despondent.

ALLEGED BLACKMAILER ARRESTED.

Bloomington, Ill., May 12.—Itoy Waller, aged 18, was arrested at Lincoln Monday, charged with threatening Hilram L. Kenya, a wealthy resident of Elkhart, with death unless he placed $200 in a designated spot.

SEX VIEWS MAKE TROUBLE

PROFESSOR AT CINCINNATI IS ASKED TO RESIGN.

Admits Peculiar Opinions on Marriage But Refuses to Leave—His Wife Started the Fuss.

Cincinnati, May 12.—H. Heath Bowden, professor of philosophy at the University of Cincinnati, has been asked by President C. W. Dabney to tender his resignation because of his private views on marriage and his public views on sociology, and the professor announced Monday that not only would he refuse to resign, but that he would fight against a forced retirement.

Prof. Bowden came to Cincinnati one year ago from Vassar, where he had been a member of the faculty for six years. He admits that his radical views on marriage and his domestic problems caused him to be dismissed from Vassar, but he maintains that he has never taught any of his private ideas to his students and that he has maintained an impassable wall between his own personality, in that regard, and the minds of his classes.

He says that he believes in an ideal state in which there will exist an association of the sexes, based on comradeship, and Dr. Dabney thinks that is too revolutionary an idea for an instructor to hold in the University of Cincinnati.

Prof. Bowden has been married 12 years, his wife having been a teacher in the Granville (O.) schools while he was an instructor in the university at that place, but they are declared to have lived apart for several years, even though residing in the same building, and the demand for his resignation is said to have followed Mrs. Bowden's statement of the conditions of her home life to President Dabney.

GENERALLY HE IS.

"When a man axes me for advice," said Uncle Eben, "I doesn't throw out my chest an' feel flattered. Do chances is dat do man who axes fol advice is simply kolin' around to everybody he knows tryin' to celebrate hisself as a topic of conversation."

CHIEF OF POLICE ARRESTED.

Accused of Storming E. Paso Jail Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 12.—N. J. Haskew, who has for three years been chief of police of South Pittsburg, Tenn., has been arrested by V. D. It is stated that Haskew and a party of friends stormed the jail in El Paso, where a number of Haskew and several others were incarcerated, and in the fight that followed three men, including Haskew's brother, were killed.

It is claimed Haskew has since been a fugitive from justice and that a heavy reward is standing for his arrest. Sheriff Watson left with his prisoner Monday.

WRITES OF GOLF AS PLAYED IN DETROIT

George Brownell Also Says That the Janesville Park and Pleasure Drive Association is Talked of in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., May 10.—Golf-players in Janesville are so accustomed to playing over a course of ideal character, that they are in danger of becoming unappreciative. One has only to glance at the bay of Michigan land to determine that it is better adapted for fruit and celery growing than for golf courses. With but few exceptions the links have been laid out upon land that is flat, lacking in "sporty" qualities, and devoid of that springy turf that is the delight of every true lover of the game. It is the best they have, however, and it is perhaps to their credit that they have fostered the game under such adverse conditions.

At Battle Creek the game has not yet passed beyond the "duffer" stage. A wealthy club was formed there several years ago, but the interest displayed in the game is of a portentious nature. Duffering parties and duffers at their club-houses, built in bungalow style, are more attractive to the members than an eighteen-hole match. The present course is only two years old. When the turf finally forms over the farmland, which it formerly was, it is possible that the members will grow more enthusiastic over the game itself.

In Detroit there are two clubs, both of a highly exclusive nature, and both intensely proud of their courses. Great sums of money have been expended to make the links perfect. The putting greens are of course ideal. Imported soil and much seedling has accomplished this. The fair greens are about equal to the Janesville course. Both, however, have been laid out upon land that is unsuited by nature for a first-class golf course. There are not enough hills and no natural hazards. Artificial bunkers are dependent upon every-where. At the Detroit Golf club a small artificial lake collects toll of the man who is off his game. The club-houses are magnificent structures erected at great cost and perfectly appointed for the convenience of the members.

As to the players, it is difficult to judge of their ability upon only transient acquaintance. The writer would feel safe in wagering a new straw hat against a nickel that he could pick out four men from the Janesville team who would "clean up" on any four men selected from both clubs. I would want "Bill" Sutherland as a member of the party. His picturesque speech and mannerisms would keep his millionaire opponent so busy that he couldn't swing a club.

The improvement association that has been formed in Janesville has attracted considerable attention from the press in several states. One Michigan paper, published in a city slightly larger than Janesville, takes its citizens to task for their indifference in civic improvement matters and goes on to tell about what has been done in "Janesville, an obscure Wisconsin town." I have been tempted to send the editor a letter asking him to tell me where I can find his city upon the map. GEORGE H. BROWNELL.

Model "S" $750.00.

The S Roadster design is new and includes an extra or rumble seat. There is a racy appearance to the car which makes it very popular, and as the utility is in no way sacrificed thereby, it is in every way an admirable car for all practical purposes. By removing the rumble seat, room is made for a trunk or a sample machine, such as a cash register or adding machine. It will cover from 3 to 45 miles an hour by simply manipulating the throttle lever. Easy on tires; spring of gas-line and oil; repairs reduced to a minimum; make the Ford very popular. Let us show you what a Ford does on these Wisconsin roads.

The Perfected Corn Planter

For 1908 is the NO. 9 DEERE

One excellent feature is the tilting hopper.

In construction, the Deere tip-over hopper possesses many advantages over others. The gear ring is held stationary, hence is always in proper time and mesh cannot be gotten out of time. It is also impossible to get seed plates in wrong. They cannot be put in upside down, and will not fit unless they are placed correctly. This is not true of several other planters. The gear ring has twice as many driving lugs as most others and avoids the missing of hills in starting up. In changing plates the upper valve is not exposed and there is no danger of brushing the hill of corn off and losing it, which means a missed hill. A flat spring is provided at the side of the hopper bottom which retains the seed plate and bottom plate in position while the hopper is being returned to its upright position. The hinge is very wide, and holds the hopper much more securely in place. We employ but one thumb nut to fasten the hopper, whereas others use two. We employ a sliding lid which prevents spilling the corn, and the lid is held both open and closed by a spring. This tip-over hopper has been thoroughly tested out before being offered to the trade, and its many features place it immediately in the fore-front in comparison with others.

Call and ask for one of my interesting booklets on corn planting and selecting of seed.
